twelve years, acting at different times as its secretary and its president, and is now acting for the pension bureau as expert eye and ear examiner. He belongs to the Grand Army of the Republic, to the Improved Order of Red Men and to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and in the last named has filled all of the chairs. Whatever tends to promote the interests of his profession and give to man the key to that complex problem which we call life at once attracts the interest and co-operation of Dr. Hawley. He is an extremely busy and successful practitioner. A strong mentality and invincible courage and a marked individuality have so entered into his makeup as to render him a natural leader of men and a director of opinion.

JONATHAN W. CARTER.

Jonathan W. Carter, now deceased, was a man whom to know was to respect and honor, for he lived an upright life, was industrious, energetic and honorable, and his history is another proof of the fact that success can be achieved through persistent purpose, directed by sound judgment.

Mr. Carter was born in Columbus township, Bartholomew county, on the 19th of March, 1828, and was a son of Elijah S. and Maria (Wilkinson) Carter. The father was a native of New Jersey and during his early boyhood accompanied his parents on their removal from that state to Indiana, the family home being established in this county. Thus he was reared here amid the wild scenes of pioneer life, for the work of improvement and progress had scarcely been begun at that time. He assisted in the arduous task of developing a new farm and did much clearing in this county, thus aiding materially in its improvement. Throughout his entire life he carried on agricultural pursuits and met with success in his work, adding year by year to his savings, which he invested from time to time in real estate until he was the owner of three hundred acres of fine land. He led a very busy life and found that work is an excellent foundation upon which to rear the superstructure of success. Both he and his wife were members of the Methodist Episcopal church and he took a very active part in its work, laboring earnestly for the moral development and progress of his community. His political support was given the Whig party in early life and later he joined the ranks of the new Republican party, continuing to follow its banner until his death. Unto Elijah and Maria Carter were born seven children: Jonathan W., Nathan, Lucinda, Abigail, Catherine and Robert and William, twins.

Mr. Carter of this review was a representative of one of the earliest families of Bartholomew county and pioneer conditions existed during the period of his boyhood. Many of the homes were built of logs, and there were great stretches of country which were not only unfenced, but were still in possession of the government, for the settlers were so few that there had not been a demand made for the lands. Crude farming implements were used in the cultivation of the fields, roads were in poor condition, as compared to those of the present, much of the forest stood in its native state, the streams were unbridged and the land undrained. Mr. Carter shared with the family in the hardships and trials of frontier life and performed his full share of the work on the old home place. At length, having arrived at years of maturity, he desired to have a home of his own and a companion and helpmate for the journey of life. He then wooed and won Miss Charity Chambers and their marriage was celebrated on the 26th of July, 1855. The lady is a daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Gibbs) Chambers, the former a native of Canada and the latter of New York. Mr. Chambers was a farmer by occupation and came to Bartholomew county at a very early day, casting in his lot with the first settlers. Wild game of various kinds abounded and he largely subsisted upon such meat while developing his farm. He cleared a tract of land and when it was prepared for the plow he planted his crops and made an excellent farm. His wife, a most estimable lady, greatly aided him by her careful management of the household affairs and the able manner in which she reared her children. She belonged to the Methodist Episcopal church, and although not a church member, Mr. Chambers was a good, moral man, devoted to honorable principles and right living. In politics he was first a Whig and on the dissolution of that party he joined the ranks of the new Republican party. In his business affairs he prospered, becoming one of the successful farmers of his neighborhood. His death occurred in 1852 and his wife passed away in 1873. They had a family of eight children: Sally A., the deceased wife of William Gibbs, a farmer; Daniel, who married Polly Lewis and followed farming as a life work, but is now deceased; John A., a farmer, who wedded Rachel Smith; Cyrenus, also deceased, who married Harriet Mullendoor and carried on farming; Amos, a farmer and stock dealer of Texas, who married Susan Shoe; Benjamin, who married Harriet Patterson and is now a retired farmer; Mrs. Carter, and Martha, the deceased wife of John A. Williams, also an agriculturist.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carter was blessed with six children: Elijah S., who married Miranda Jones, a daughter of Newton S. and Sarah (Hart) Jones; John W., who wedded Mary Redman and is engaged in the tilling of the soil; Sarah A., the wife of Willard Haislup, who follows agricultural pursuits; Stella M., the wife of George Heflen, a farmer; Hattie, the wife of Alonzo Smock, and one that died in infancy.

Throughout his entire business career Mr. Carter carried on agricultural pursuits and was widely known as one of the leading, practical and progressive farmers of Columbus township. As the years passed by he prospered. He never indulged in speculation, but placed his dependence in the surer elements of success—diligence, perseverance and honest dealing. He did much clearing, especially during his early years, and thus aided in reclaiming the wild land for the uses of the white man. He became the owner of three hundred and eighty-three and a third acres of land, which he placed under a high state of cultivation, making it a very valuable property. Of this his widow still owns one hundred and ninety acres, upon which is a fine brick residence which was built by Mr. Carter at the time of the Civil war. It forms one of the pleasing features of the landscape, and few finer farms can be turkeys, shooting matches, etc. Shot-guns were considered an abomination and derisively called 'scatter guns,' fit only for the amusement of small boys and old dotards whose defective vision prevented them from taking aim through the 'sights' of a rifle.

"Flint locks prevailed until the introduction of percussion caps, and many a deer was allowed to escape and roam the woods because of a 'flash in the pan,' and while the hunter was 'picking his flint' before 'trying it again.' The breech of the old fashioned rifle contained a small cavity closed with a brass or iron lid on a hinge for a bit of tallow—to grease the 'patching,' which was a thin piece of cloth about three-fourths of an inch in diameter strung on a string and attached to the shot-pouch strap.

"The powder, gauged in a primer or buck horn charger holding the proper quantity, was emptied into the barrel of the gun, then the greased piece of patching was placed over the bore, the bullet placed thereon and rammed home, the greased cloth preventing the ball from sticking on its way or fouling in the rifle groove. A shot-pouch of dressed buckskin with the hair on contained bullets, flints, wipers, etc., which, with powder horn, completed the outfit. A man usually knew just about what he could do with his gun, and if the implement was reliable and accurate, it was petted as affectionately as a favorite child, and often given a pet name. Off-hand aim was the general rule—to shoot with a rest was boyish and beneath the dignity of a hunter."

Dress of the pioneers

The head dress of the pioneer for the male sex was either a coonskin cap or a home made wool hat. The feet were covered with moccasins made of deer skins and shoe packs of tanned leather, but shoes were worn by most of the pioneers of this county, except in summer, when old and young, male and female went barefooted a considerable portion of the time.

The blue linsey hunting shirt was almost universally worn by men and boys. It was made with wide sleeves, open before, and so ample in its folds as to embrace the body almost twice around. It was such a comfortable and healthful garment that its wearers were loth to part with it when the time came for it to be replaced by a shirt or jacket of a different style. Pantaloons were made at a very early day of deer skin and linsey, but to the settlers of this county, cotton and jeans were most common.

Women's dresses were simple, substantial, and well made. As a rule settlers raised their own flax, cotton and wool, and made their own garments. Good weavers were then the accomplished young ladies and the spinning wheel filled the little cabin with sweet music, as it sang its song of thrift and industry. They raised their cotton, picked it, carded it, wove it and then wore it. At the proper season the flax brake was brought into use, and its product was "hackled" and spun into skein; the wool card was then prepared for the filling; and with different kinds of bark, various colors were given to the raw material and made it ready for the loom, which, with its shuttle flying noisily back and forth soon brought out its yards of linsey striped and beautiful.

Many are barefooted

The head dress of the women was a simple cotton handkerchief or sun bonnet, and they were not ashamed to walk a mile or two to church on Sunday, carrying their shoes and stockings in their hands until within a few yards of the place of worship, when they would put them on the feet. Indeed, at early meetings it was quite common for nine-tenths of the people, male and female, to be barefooted.

These modes of dress long prevailed in the country settlements, but in the town of Columbus the merchants who carried rather large and complete stocks of goods encouraged the cultivation of what they perhaps considered higher tastes in the matter of dress. Some silks and satins were worn, but they were not numerous. Whatever material was used, however, was genuine, and there were then no "shoddy" goods. There were many social assemblies and dances then considered quite elegant, and on these occasions the dresses worn, though differing in style, would compare favorably in richness with those of a later day.

The newspapers soon filled with advertisements headed, Prints! Prints! and calico, at first costly, became very generally used. In turn it gave way except for common use, through the development of extravagant tastes, to something richer and more attractive. With the wonderful increase in wealth that the years brought it is not a matter of surprise that the pioneers themselves soon departed from the ways which their necessities forced upon them, nor that their descendants have continued the progress so admirably commenced.

How they had fun

Pioneer social gathering usually had in view two objects—work and sport. The log rollings, house and barn raisings, wood choppings, corn huskings, bean pickings, wool pickings, quiltings and apple parings, while attended with much labor, were replete with enjoyment. In the early settlement of this county all amusement was preceded by work—every good time was earned.

No man undertook alone to roll his logs. All joined together and went from place to place rolling. All houses were raised by neighborly hands. When the crops were gathered the corn was put in a long pile and neighbors were invited in to husk it, usually after night. Log rollings and huskings were followed by a dance from which the young folks got their greatest enjoyment. John Stader, a cripple, was one of the famous pioneer fiddlers, and his services were in demand wherever he was known. He went all over the county playing at frolics.

In the huskings both sexes took part, the huskers being divided into two parties, each with a leader. The lucky finder of a red ear reaped a rich harvest of kisses from those of the other sex; the rules governing the quantity of such rewards, varying in different sections.

Organization of townships

The early division of the county into three voting districts has been elsewhere mentioned. On May 14, 1821, upon the petition of William Hamner and others, a new township, to be known as Sand Creek, was laid off out of the Southern District, and bounds were fixed as follows: Beginning where the Jackson County line crosses Driftwood River, thence up said river to the mouth of Clifty, thence up Clifty to the line dividing Townships 8 and 9, thence with said line to the Jennings County line, thence with said line to the Jackson County line, thence with said line to the place of beginning. James Hamner was appointed inspector of elections for the township, and his house was designated as the polling place.

June 13, 1859, the last of several changes in the extent of this township was made, leaving it bounded as follows: Beginning where the Jackson County line crosses Driftwood River, and running in a northwesterly direction with said river to the northeast corner of Wayne Township, thence east on the section line, first south of the township line dividing Townships 8 and 9, to the southwest corner of Section No. 6, Township 8 north, of Range 7 east, thence due south to the northern line of Jackson County, thence along said county line in a southwesterly direction to the place of beginning.

Wayne township

Wayne was organized November 12, 1821, with the following boundary: Beginning on the west bank of Driftwood River where crossed by the Jackson County line, and running with said river northwesterly to where the line dividing Townships 8 and 9 crosses the river, thence west with said line to the line dividing Ranges 4 and 5, thence south to the county line, thence east to the place of beginning.

July 4, 1831, the line on the north end of the township was changed and fixed as follows: Commencing where the line dividing Townships 8 and 9 strikes Denois Creek, and running east with the meanders of said creek to the bridge on the Mauck's Ferry State road, thence on a due east line to Driftwood River. September 4, 1832, the township boundary was again changed as follows: Commencing where the Jackson County line crosses Driftwood River; thence north with its meanders to the line dividing Sections 6 and 12; thence west to the Jackson Township line; thence south to the Jackson County line,thence east to the place of beginning.

January 3, 1837, to accord with changes made in the county line the following change in the township boundary was made: Commencing at the southwest corner of Section 18, Township 7 north, of Range 5 east, and running west to the southwest corner of Section 15, Township 7, of Range 4 east; thence north to the northwest corner of Section 10, Township 8, of Range 4 east; thence east to the northeast corner of Section 12, Township 8, of Range 4 east. This added territory, together with sixteen sections contiguous thereto on the east side, was taken from Wayne Township in the formation of Ohio Township.

Driftwood township

Driftwood, organized May 10, 1824, was bounded as follows: Beginning where the north county line crosses Driftwood River at the point commonly known as Berry's ford and running down with the meanders of said river, to the line dividing Townships 9 and 10, thence east on said line to where it strikes Flat Rock, thence up said stream with its meanders to the county line, thence west on said line to the place of beginning. David McCoy's house was designated as the first place for holding elections. No changes have been made in the boundary of this township, but on the 9th day of August, 1824, its name was changed to German Township.

Nineveh township

Nineveh, organized May 10, 1824, was bounded as follows: Beginning where the north county line crosses Driftwood River and running down with the meanders of said river to the line dividing Townships 9 and 10, thence due west to the line dividing Ranges 3 and 4, thence north to the county line, thence east with said line to the place of beginning. Thomas Roberts was appointed inspector of elections, and the house of John Macomb was designated as the polling place.

On January 3, 1837, the west line was changed to commence at the southwest corner of Section 34, Township 10, of Range 4 east, and run north to the northeast corner of Section 4, in the same township and range. In the formation of Union Township, twelve sections were taken from the south end of this township; otherwise it remains as here described. [Ed. Note: Nineveh township was eliminated by development of the Camp Atterbury Army Training center in 1942.]

Flat Rock township

Flat Rock, organized May 11, 1824, was bounded as follows: Beginning where the line between Townships 9 and 10 crosses Flat Rock Creek, and running up with the meanders of said creek to the county line; thence east on said line to the northeast corner of Bartholomew County; thence south to the line dividing Townships 9 and 10; thence west on said line to the place of beginning. The first polling place was the

Hartsville M. E. church

The society at Hartsville was organized about 1854, in the Baptist Church, with twelve members. Robert Powell and wife, James Powell, John Quinn, Levi Moore, William Smiley, William Black, Solomon Miller, Enoch Richmond and wife, and Elizabeth Alexander, were among the first members. John W. Winchester was the first minister and "Father" Countryman led the first class. The second leader was Thomas C. Fogle, long a faithful member. Among the early preachers were William Smith, Constant B. Jones, Jacob Miller, Charles Mapes, Nimrod Kerrick, Joseph Tarkington, James Crawford, Landy Havens, John S. Tevis, Milton Heath, and Lewis Dale.

At first the meetings were held in the Baptist and Christian churches, the temperance hall, the college building, and at the homes of members, but about 1863, during the pastorate of William Maupin, a pious and energetic man, a substantial and commodious frame church was erected, costing about $1,500. The church also owns a neat parsonage valued at $2,000. The present pastor is Rev. William Wykoff; the membership numbers eighty-five. The Sunday School with an average attendance of 125, is superintended by Mr. John Phillipy. This is the only church in the county now on the Hartsville circuit.

Carter's chapel M.E.

Located in Columbus Township on the crossroads at Lowell Station, Carter's chapel was organized by Rev. James Garner, in 1821. [Ed. Note: Near Lowell Road and U. S. Road 31 north of Columbus.] Its early members were: Elijah S. Carter, Mariah Carter, Nathan Carter, Elizabeth Carter, Joseph Bevis, Aaron Bevis, Sarah Mounts, William Lumbick, Sarah Lumbick, Benjamin F. Arnold, Matilda Arnold, Benjamin Piatt, Mary Fiddrick, Edia Arnold, Samuel Brown, Elizabeth Brown, Rebecca Ann Carter, Rebecca Bevis, Jamima Lumbick, Rhoda Hiatt. Elijah Carter was the first class leader, and continued as such about thirty years.

For many years this church was attached to the Columbus circuit, and afterward to the Taylorsville circuit. In early times the meetings were held at the houses of Nathan Carter, Samuel Mounts and others. At least fifty-five years ago a log church, the first Methodist church in the county, was raised just north of the present building and west of the grave-yard. On the same site, early in the 40's, a small frame church was built, which served the congregation till 1870, when a brick edifice, 40x45 feet, was erected at a cost of about $2,200, which was dedicated in 1871, by Revs. Sampson Tincher and Joseph Cotten. The membership is now twenty-nine. [Later discontinued].

Bethel M. E. church

Bethel, located in Union Township, about two and a half miles west of Taylorsville, was organized in 1853 by Smith D. Jones, William Lightfoot and wife, Vincent Foster and wife Sarah, Thomas L. Jones and wife, Elijah Dyson and wife Ann, Elza Browning, wife Fanny, and daughters Sarah and Matilda, Katy A. Bevis and Mary Groves. A frame church, early constructed by this society, was destroyed by fire in 1863, and rebuilt in 1866, at a cost of about $800. Present membership fifty-seven. [Southwest of Tannehill on border of Camp Atterbury. Closed after camp started.]

St. Louis Crossing church

In 1863 a society was organized and a church built by the Presbyterians at St. Louis Crossing. In 1871 the building was purchased by Henry Drake and presented to the Methodist congregation. The building up of the congregation was the work of Rev. James Crawford. Among the early members were Henry Drake, Peter Shank, John Drake and their wives. One of the most important events in the history of this church was the revival conducted in 1887 by Rev. Daniel Ryan, in which he brought into the church 122 members. The present membership is 150. The Sunday School is also large; H. Ferry, Superintendent.

Taylorsville Methodist

Taylorsville M. E. was organized in 1833. Among the early active members were Dr. Bell, David Groves, Mary Groves, Thomas James, William Smith, George Baker, Robert Hobson, Richard Hendricks, Sarah Swisher, Samuel and Elizabeth Brown. The Taylorsville congregation was organized in a log cabin, and for some time held its meetings at the homes of members. About 1850, a frame edifice, 36x46 feet, was erected at a cost of about $1,000. Present membership sixty-nine. Rev. W. C. Watkins has charge of the four last named churches, which, together, constitute the Taylorsville circuit.

Clifford M. E. church

As early as 1850 Hawpatch Chapel, on the road to Columbus from Clifford, about two and one-half miles from the latter place, was the meeting house of a goodly number of the leading farmers in that section About 1865, a Methodist society was formed at Clifford into which the Hawpatch society was merged The first class was composed of about fifteen members, among whom were Johnson Joiner, leader; Frank Miller, Elmira Barb and W. L. Linke. The first preache was Rev. J. S. Reager, and subsequently those best remembered were J. C. White and J. C. McCaw.

About 1858, an independent church building was erected in Clifford, the United Brethren having preference in its use. It still stands in the east part of the village and is used by the New Light Christians. In thi church the Methodist Episcopal class was organized and here in the township hall its meetings were held until 1879, when, at a cost of about $1,000, a neat frame church, 36x50 feet, was erected in the west part of the village. The church is very prosperous, having 16 members. Its Sunday School has an average attendance of fifty, with Julian P. Morton as Superintendent

Petersville M. E. church

Over fifty years ago [about 1832], Clifty Church was built on Clifty Creek, near the present site o Petersville. Among its early members were Dr. H. Roland, John Singleton, Asa Hunt, Jesse Davis and Dunn, C. Ricketts, W. H. Redman, and Charles Newsom, at the section. Also Pennie Newsom, L. P. Cox, W. J. Davis, A. H. Morris, and Misses Rhoda Parker, and Ida Davis, and S. E. Nicholson of the township.

Nineveh township

John Wilson, who was probably the first teacher in Nineveh township, taught a school in a cabin on John S. Drybread's farm about 1832. Mrs. Jacob Slack was a pupil in his school at that time. Thomas Lowry taught several terms in district number one, in the northeastern part of the township, previous to 1838. William Lee taught in the same house in 1839, and Henry Barlow, in 1840. John Ball taught one or more terms in the western part of the township near the village of Kansas. Next came Elzea Matthews, Hiram Jackson and Z. Y. Bailey, the latter in 1841. John S. Drybread, who is still living on a farm in this neighborhood, attended these schools, and still retains a lively interest in his log cabin school days.

The veteran teacher, Jacob Slack, taught his first school, which was a subscription school, in district number one, in 1841, near the residence of J. D. Marsh, a pioneer of this township. He also taught the two winters following in the same house at the rate of forty dollars per term of three months. This was considered good wages for a teacher at that time. Mr. Slack continued to teach each year in different parts of the township until about 1880—a period of forty years' continuous service. His record in this respect as a teacher in the common schools is perhaps not excelled by any one in the State. He is still living and is a man of great moral worth.

It is probable that others of the early teachers continued to teach in the township several years later. Jonathan Hammond commenced teaching in this township about 1856, and continued until his death in 1875. He was a good teacher and was probably the best-posted teacher in geography in the county. We can only find space to mention the names of a few of the many good teachers of this township: William Beatty, J. H. Beatty, George C. Hammond, George C. Hubbard, John M. Hickey, Jacob Stucker, James H. Clark and Elijah S. Carter, will all be pleasantly remembered by both patrons and pupils.

Rock Creek township

James Burns taught the first school in Rock Creek township, in 1830. His daughter, now Mrs. John Callahan, and William T. Strickland, were among his pupils. The next teacher was David Hill, who taught at the same place, one or more terms. These were followed by Christian Parker, H. St. John, and others. But few persons are now living who will remember these teachers, who gave perhaps all the education that many of the children of the pioneers received.

Later came James K. Patterson, a student from Hanover College, who taught at Burnsville, and also near the old Donaldson Church [On Legal Tender road northeast of Elizabethtown] about the year 1850. James W. Wells and David Stobo were pupils of his, and bear testimony to his high character and standing as an instructor and scholar. This township has much unwritten history in connection with its early school days, which would be of great interest to the present generation, but the writer has been unable to obtain it.

The history of the teachers of the last quarter century must in the main be left for the future historian, who with facile pen, will write during the next century of the progress of education in the past. This township is well supplied with good, roomy, brick school buildings, with many conveniences in doors and out, to make the teacher and children comfortable. In respect to furniture and other appliances, such as blackboard surface, reference books, maps, charts, globes, etc., it is not surpassed by any other township in the county.

Time would fail us to speak particularly of W. T. Strickland and D. B. Clapp, at number six; of A. W. Dean, James Phillips and J. R. Callahan, at number one; James W. Wells, M. Hacker and Birch Barrett, at number two; W. M. Garrettson, at number three; of Joseph Stevenson, at number four, and John Petree, at number five, besides a host of others, many of whom are equally deserving of mention.

Wayne township

Thomas Winkler taught the first school in Wayne township near the present site of the village of Waynesville, in 1824. Mrs. Silas Thompson, Sr., of Columbus, Ind., whose maiden name was Lane, was a pupil of this school. The next teacher was Peter Kinney, who owned and operated one of the old time copper distilleries in the neighborhood. He taught in an old blacksmith shop in Waynesville. This was a winter term and only attended by boys and young men.

The first lady teacher in this township, and probably the second in the county, was Miss Nancy Thompson, sister of Archie F. Thompson. She taught in an old house in or near the town of Augusta, in the summer of 1825 or 1826. This school was only attended by the smaller boys and girls of the neighborhood. This village was a short distance south of Waynesville, and twelve years, acting at different times as its secretary and its president, and is now acting for the pension bureau as expert eye and ear examiner. He belongs to the Grand Army of the Republic, to the Improved Order of Red Men and to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and in the last named has filled all of the chairs. Whatever tends to promote the interests of his profession and give to man the key to that complex problem which we call life at once attracts the interest and co-operation of Dr. Hawley. He is an extremely busy and successful practitioner. A strong mentality and invincible courage and a marked individuality have so entered into his makeup as to render him a natural leader of men and a director of opinion.

JONATHAN W. CARTER.

Jonathan W. Carter, now deceased, was a man whom to know was to respect and honor, for he lived an upright life, was industrious, energetic and honorable, and his history is another proof of the fact that success can be achieved through persistent purpose, directed by sound judgment.

Mr. Carter was born in Columbus township, Bartholomew county, on the 19th of March, 1828, and was a son of Elijah S. and Maria (Wilkinson) Carter. The father was a native of New Jersey and during his early boyhood accompanied his parents on their removal from that state to Indiana, the family home being established in this county. Thus he was reared here amid the wild scenes of pioneer life, for the work of improvement and progress had scarcely been begun at that time. He assisted in the arduous task of developing a new farm and did much clearing in this county, thus aiding materially in its improvement. Throughout his entire life he carried on agricultural pursuits and met with success in his work, adding year by year to his savings, which he invested from time to time in real estate until he was the owner of three hundred acres of fine land. He led a very busy life and found that work is an excellent foundation upon which to rear the superstructure of success. Both he and his wife were members of the Methodist Episcopal church and he took a very active part in its work, laboring earnestly for the moral development and progress of his community. His political support was given the Whig party in early life and later he joined the ranks of the new Republican party, continuing to follow its banner until his death. Unto Elijah and Maria Carter were born seven children: Jonathan W., Nathan, Lucinda, Abigail, Catherine and Robert and William, twins.

Mr. Carter of this review was a representative of one of the earliest families of Bartholomew county and pioneer conditions existed during the period of his boyhood. Many of the homes were built of logs, and there were great stretches of country which were not only unfenced, but were still in possession of the government, for the settlers were so few that there had not been a demand made for the lands. Crude farming implements were used in the cultivation of the fields, roads were in poor condition, as compared to those of the present, much of the forest stood in its native state, the streams were unbridged and the land undrained. Mr. Carter shared with the family in the hardships and trials of frontier life and performed his full share of the work on the old home place. At length, having arrived at years of maturity, he desired to have a home of his own and a companion and helpmate for the journey of life. He then wooed and won Miss Charity Chambers and their marriage was celebrated on the 26th of July, 1855. The lady is a daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Gibbs) Chambers, the former a native of Canada and the latter of New York. Mr. Chambers was a farmer by occupation and came to Bartholomew county at a very early day, casting in his lot with the first settlers. Wild game of various kinds abounded and he largely subsisted upon such meat while developing his farm. He cleared a tract of land and when it was prepared for the plow he planted his crops and made an excellent farm. His wife, a most estimable lady, greatly aided him by her careful management of the household affairs and the able manner in which she reared her children. She belonged to the Methodist Episcopal church, and although not a church member, Mr. Chambers was a good, moral man, devoted to honorable principles and right living. In politics he was first a Whig and on the dissolution of that party he joined the ranks of the new Republican party. In his business affairs he prospered, becoming one of the successful farmers of his neighborhood. His death occurred in 1852 and his wife passed away in 1873. They had a family of eight children: Sally A., the deceased wife of William Gibbs, a farmer; Daniel, who married Polly Lewis and followed farming as a life work, but is now deceased; John A., a farmer, who wedded Rachel Smith; Cyrenus, also deceased, who married Harriet Mullendoor and carried on farming; Amos, a farmer and stock dealer of Texas, who married Susan Shoe; Benjamin, who married Harriet Patterson and is now a retired farmer; Mrs. Carter, and Martha, the deceased wife of John A. Williams, also an agriculturist.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carter was blessed with six children: Elijah S., who married Miranda Jones, a daughter of Newton S. and Sarah (Hart) Jones; John W., who wedded Mary Redman and is engaged in the tilling of the soil; Sarah A., the wife of Willard Haislup, who follows agricultural pursuits; Stella M., the wife of George Heflen, a farmer; Hattie, the wife of Alonzo Smock, and one that died in infancy.

Throughout his entire business career Mr. Carter carried on agricultural pursuits and was widely known as one of the leading, practical and progressive farmers of Columbus township. As the years passed by he prospered. He never indulged in speculation, but placed his dependence in the surer elements of success—diligence, perseverance and honest dealing. He did much clearing, especially during his early years, and thus aided in reclaiming the wild land for the uses of the white man. He became the owner of three hundred and eighty-three and a third acres of land, which he placed under a high state of cultivation, making it a very valuable property. Of this his widow still owns one hundred and ninety acres, upon which is a fine brick residence which was built by Mr. Carter at the time of the Civil war. It forms one of the pleasing features of the landscape, and few finer farms can be found in this section of the state than the one which was developed and improved by Mr. Carter. He gave his political allegiance to the Republican party and in early manhood served as supervisor, but in later years sought or held no public office. He belonged to the Methodist church and his Christian faith was the secret of his upright life and manly character. He won the respect of all because he lived worthy the regard of those with whom he came in contact, and his life record is an untarnished one, well worthy of emulation.

HEROD W. O'NEAL.

Herod W. O'Neal, a stock farmer of Bartholomew county, owns and occupies a good farm in Rock Creek township, and the property is increasing in value and attractive appearance because of the excellent improvements which he has placed upon it. He is now largely engaged in stock farming, handling annually a large number of animals.

Mr. O'Neal was born in this county, September 11, 1867, and is a son of Bartlett and Mary (Neal) O'Neal. The father is also a native of this county, born on the 14th of January, 1840, and the mother's birth occurred near Burnsville, in 1842. The paternal grandparents, James and Sarah O'Neal, came from Tennessee to Indiana, and were farming people, casting in their lot with the early pioneer settlers of this locality. Their children were William, Andrew, Jennie, Nancy and Bartlett. The grandfather developed a good farm, making the fields very arable and productive and placing substantial buildings upon the place. In his political views he was a Republican. Some years have passed since he departed this life, but his work yet remains in the fine farm which he cleared and cultivated. Bartlett O'Neal was associated with his father in farming for many years. He was reared on the old homestead and never followed any other occupation than farming. At one time he was the owner of four hundred acres of fine land, and at the time of his demise his landed possessions comprised two hundred and forty acres. As a citizen he was loyal and true to the best interests of his community and labored for the general good. He voted with the Republican party and was active in the work of the Christian church, with which he long held membership and in which he filled office. Unto him and his wife were born ten children: James, who died in infancy; Isabelle, the wife of John Burns, a mechanic, and after his death of George W. Cooper, a farmer; Marcella, the wife of F. J. Flannigan, a farmer who is now engaged in dairying; Harry, who married Florence Marr and follows farming; Lary, who died in childhood; Herod; Roby, the wife of William Muir, who is engaged in agricultural pursuits; Almeda, the wife of Daily Chambers; Sheridan, who married Lizzie Muir and is a farmer; and Nora, who is the wife of Charles May.

To give a detailed account of the boyhood days of the subject would be to present a picture of the youth of most lads reared upon farms. He had, perhaps, more advantages

Hartsville M. E. church

The society at Hartsville was organized about 1854, in the Baptist Church, with twelve members. Robert Powell and wife, James Powell, John Quinn, Levi Moore, William Smiley, William Black, Solomon Miller, Enoch Richmond and wife, and Elizabeth Alexander, were among the first members. John W. Winchester was the first minister and "Father" Countryman led the first class. The second leader was Thomas C. Fogle, long a faithful member. Among the early preachers were William Smith, Constant B. Jones, Jacob Miller, Charles Mapes, Nimrod Kerrick, Joseph Tarkington, James Crawford, Landy Havens, John S. Tevis, Milton Heath, and Lewis Dale.

At first the meetings were held in the Baptist and Christian churches, the temperance hall, the college building, and at the homes of members, but about 1863, during the pastorate of William Maupin, a pious and energetic man, a substantial and commodious frame church was erected, costing about $1,500. The church also owns a neat parsonage valued at $2,000. The present pastor is Rev. William Wykoff; the membership numbers eighty-five. The Sunday School with an average attendance of 125, is superintended by Mr. John Phillipy. This is the only church in the county now on the Hartsville circuit.

Carter's chapel M.E.

Located in Columbus Township on the crossroads at Lowell Station, Carter's chapel was organized by Rev. James Garner, in 1821. [Ed. Note: Near Lowell Road and U. S. Road 31 north of Columbus.] Its early members were: Elijah S. Carter, Mariah Carter, Nathan Carter, Elizabeth Carter, Joseph Bevis, Aaron Bevis, Sarah Mounts, William Lumbick, Sarah Lumbick, Benjamin F. Arnold, Matilda Arnold, Benjamin Piatt, Mary Fiddrick, Edia Arnold, Samuel Brown, Elizabeth Brown, Rebecca Ann Carter, Rebecca Bevis, Jamima Lumbick, Rhoda Hiatt. Elijah Carter was the first class leader, and continued as such about thirty years.

For many years this church was attached to the Columbus circuit, and afterward to the Taylorsville circuit. In early times the meetings were held at the houses of Nathan Carter, Samuel Mounts and others. At least fifty-five years ago a log church, the first Methodist church in the county, was raised just north of the present building and west of the grave-yard. On the same site, early in the 40's, a small frame church was built, which served the congregation till 1870, when a brick edifice, 40x45 feet, was erected at a cost of about $2,200, which was dedicated in 1871, by Revs. Sampson Tincher and Joseph Cotten. The membership is now twenty-nine. [Later discontinued].

Bethel M. E. church

Bethel, located in Union Township, about two and a half miles west of Taylorsville, was organized in 1853 by Smith D. Jones, William Lightfoot and wife, Vincent Foster and wife Sarah, Thomas L. Jones and wife, Elijah Dyson and wife Ann, Elza Browning, wife Fanny, and daughters Sarah and Matilda, Katy A. Bevis and Mary Groves. A frame church, early constructed by this society, was destroyed by fire in 1863, and rebuilt in 1866, at a cost of about $800. Present membership fifty-seven. [Southwest of Tannehill on border of Camp Atterbury. Closed after camp started.]

St. Louis Crossing church

In 1863 a society was organized and a church built by the Presbyterians at St. Louis Crossing. In 1871 the building was purchased by Henry Drake and presented to the Methodist congregation. The building up of the congregation was the work of Rev. James Crawford. Among the early members were Henry Drake, Peter Shank, John Drake and their wives. One of the most important events in the history of this church was the revival conducted in 1887 by Rev. Daniel Ryan, in which he brought into the church 122 members. The present membership is 150. The Sunday School is also large; H. Ferry, Superintendent.

Taylorsville Methodist

Taylorsville M. E. was organized in 1833. Among the early active members were Dr. Bell, David Groves, Mary Groves, Thomas James, William Smith, George Baker, Robert Hobson, Richard Hendricks, Sarah Swisher, Samuel and Elizabeth Brown. The Taylorsville congregation was organized in a log cabin, and for some time held its meetings at the homes o members. About 1850, a frame edifice, 36x46 feet, was erected at a cost of about $1,000. Present membership sixty-nine. Rev. W. C. Watkins has charge of the fou last named churches, which, together, constitute th Taylorsville circuit.

Clifford M. E. church

As early as 1850 Hawpatch Chapel, on the road t Columbus from Clifford, about two and one-half mile from the latter place, was the meeting house of goodly number of the leading farmers in that section About 1865, a Methodist society was formed a Clifford into which the Hawpatch society was merged The first class was composed of about fifteen members, among whom were Johnson Joiner, leader; Fran Miller, Elmira Barb and W. twelve years, acting at different times as its secretary and its president, and is now acting for the pension bureau as expert eye and ear examiner. He belongs to the Grand Army of the Republic, to the Improved Order of Red Men and to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and in the last named has filled all of the chairs. Whatever tends to promote the interests of his profession and give to man the key to that complex problem which we call life at once attracts the interest and co-operation of Dr. Hawley. He is an extremely busy and successful practitioner. A strong mentality and invincible courage and a marked individuality have so entered into his makeup as to render him a natural leader of men and a director of opinion.

JONATHAN W. CARTER.

Jonathan W. Carter, now deceased, was a man whom to know was to respect and honor, for he lived an upright life, was industrious, energetic and honorable, and his history is another proof of the fact that success can be achieved through persistent purpose, directed by sound judgment.

Mr. Carter was born in Columbus township, Bartholomew county, on the 19th of March, 1828, and was a son of Elijah S. and Maria (Wilkinson) Carter. The father was a native of New Jersey and during his early boyhood accompanied his parents on their removal from that state to Indiana, the family home being established in this county. Thus he was reared here amid the wild scenes of pioneer life, for the work of improvement and progress had scarcely been begun at that time. He assisted in the arduous task of developing a new farm and did much clearing in this county, thus aiding materially in its improvement. Throughout his entire life he carried on agricultural pursuits and met with success in his work, adding year by year to his savings, which he invested from time to time in real estate until he was the owner of three hundred acres of fine land. He led a very busy life and found that work is an excellent foundation upon which to rear the superstructure of success. Both he and his wife were members of the Methodist Episcopal church and he took a very active part in its work, laboring earnestly for the moral development and progress of his community. His political support was given the Whig party in early life and later he joined the ranks of the new Republican party, continuing to follow its banner until his death. Unto Elijah and Maria Carter were born seven children: Jonathan W., Nathan, Lucinda, Abigail, Catherine and Robert and William, twins.

Mr. Carter of this review was a representative of one of the earliest families of Bartholomew county and pioneer conditions existed during the period of his boyhood. Many of the homes were built of logs, and there were great stretches of country which were not only unfenced, but were still in possession of the government, for the settlers were so few that there had not been a demand made for the lands. Crude farming implements were used in the cultivation of the fields, roads were in poor condition, as compared to those of the present, much of the forest stood in its native state, the streams were unbridged and the land undrained. Mr. Carter shared with the family in the hardships and trials of frontier life and performed his full share of the work on the old home place. At length, having arrived at years of maturity, he desired to have a home of his own and a companion and helpmate for the journey of life. He then wooed and won Miss Charity Chambers and their marriage was celebrated on the 26th of July, 1855. The lady is a daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Gibbs) Chambers, the former a native of Canada and the latter of New York. Mr. Chambers was a farmer by occupation and came to Bartholomew county at a very early day, casting in his lot with the first settlers. Wild game of various kinds abounded and he largely subsisted upon such meat while developing his farm. He cleared a tract of land and when it was prepared for the plow he planted his crops and made an excellent farm. His wife, a most estimable lady, greatly aided him by her careful management of the household affairs and the able manner in which she reared her children. She belonged to the Methodist Episcopal church, and although not a church member, Mr. Chambers was a good, moral man, devoted to honorable principles and right living. In politics he was first a Whig and on the dissolution of that party he joined the ranks of the new Republican party. In his business affairs he prospered, becoming one of the successful farmers of his neighborhood. His death occurred in 1852 and his wife passed away in 1873. They had a family of eight children: Sally A., the deceased wife of William Gibbs, a farmer; Daniel, who married Polly Lewis and followed farming as a life work, but is now deceased; John A., a farmer, who wedded Rachel Smith; Cyrenus, also deceased, who married Harriet Mullendoor and carried on farming; Amos, a farmer and stock dealer of Texas, who married Susan Shoe; Benjamin, who married Harriet Patterson and is now a retired farmer; Mrs. Carter, and Martha, the deceased wife of John A. Williams, also an agriculturist.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carter was blessed with six children: Elijah S., who married Miranda Jones, a daughter of Newton S. and Sarah (Hart) Jones; John W., who wedded Mary Redman and is engaged in the tilling of the soil; Sarah A., the wife of Willard Haislup, who follows agricultural pursuits; Stella M., the wife of George Heflen, a farmer; Hattie, the wife of Alonzo Smock, and one that died in infancy.

Throughout his entire business career Mr. Carter carried on agricultural pursuits and was widely known as one of the leading, practical and progressive farmers of Columbus township. As the years passed by he prospered. He never indulged in speculation, but placed his dependence in the surer elements of success—diligence, perseverance and honest dealing. He did much clearing, especially during his early years, and thus aided in reclaiming the wild land for the uses of the white man. He became the owner of three hundred and eighty-three and a third acres of land, which he placed under a high state of cultivation, making it a very valuable property. Of this his widow still owns one hundred and ninety acres, upon which is a fine brick residence which was built by Mr. Carter at the time of the Civil war. It forms one of the pleasing features of the landscape, and few finer farms can be found in this section of the state than the one which was developed and improved by Mr. Carter. He gave his political allegiance to the Republican party and in early manhood served as supervisor, but in later years sought or held no public office. He belonged to the Methodist church and his Christian faith was the secret of his upright life and manly character. He won the respect of all because he lived worthy the regard of those with whom he came in contact, and his life record is an untarnished one, well worthy of emulation.

HEROD W. O'NEAL.

Herod W. O'Neal, a stock farmer of Bartholomew county, owns and occupies a good farm in Rock Creek township, and the property is increasing in value and attractive appearance because of the excellent improvements which he has placed upon it. He is now largely engaged in stock farming, handling annually a large number of animals.

Mr. O'Neal was born in this county, September 11, 1867, and is a son of Bartlett and Mary (Neal) O'Neal. The father is also a native of this county, born on the 14th of January, 1840, and the mother's birth occurred near Burnsville, in 1842. The paternal grandparents, James and Sarah O'Neal, came from Tennessee to Indiana, and were farming people, casting in their lot with the early pioneer settlers of this locality. Their children were William, Andrew, Jennie, Nancy and Bartlett. The grandfather developed a good farm, making the fields very arable and productive and placing substantial buildings upon the place. In his political views he was a Republican. Some years have passed since he departed this life, but his work yet remains in the fine farm which he cleared and cultivated. Bartlett O'Neal was associated with his father in farming for many years. He was reared on the old homestead and never followed any other occupation than farming. At one time he was the owner of four hundred acres of fine land, and at the time of his demise his landed possessions comprised two hundred and forty acres. As a citizen he was loyal and true to the best interests of his community and labored for the general good. He voted with the Republican party and was active in the work of the Christian church, with which he long held membership and in which he filled office. Unto him and his wife were born ten children: James, who died in infancy; Isabelle, the wife of John Burns, a mechanic, and after his death of George W. Cooper, a farmer; Marcella, the wife of F. J. Flannigan, a farmer who is now engaged in dairying; Harry, who married Florence Marr and follows farming; Lary, who died in childhood; Herod; Roby, the wife of William Muir, who is engaged in agricultural pursuits; Alameda, the wife of Daily Chambers; Sheridan, who married Lizzie Muir and is a farmer; and Nora, who is the wife of Charles May.

To give a detailed account of the boyhood days of the subject would be to present a picture of the youth of most lads reared upon farms. He had, perhaps, more advantages found in this section of the state than the one which was developed and improved by Mr. Carter. He gave his political allegiance to the Republican party and in early manhood served as supervisor, but in later years sought or held no public office. He belonged to the Methodist church and his Christian faith was the secret of his upright life and manly character. He won the respect of all because he lived worthy the regard of those with whom he came in contact, and his life record is an untarnished one, well worthy of emulation.

HEROD W. O'NEAL.

Herod W. O'Neal, a stock farmer of Bartholomew county, owns and occupies a good farm in Rock Creek township, and the property is increasing in value and attractive appearance because of the excellent improvements which he has placed upon it. He is now largely engaged in stock farming, handling annually a large number of animals.

Mr. O'Neal was born in this county, September 11, 1867, and is a son of Bartlett and Mary (Neal) O'Neal. The father is also a native of this county, born on the 14th of January, 1840, and the mother's birth occurred near Burnsville, in 1842. The paternal grandparents, James and Sarah O'Neal, came from Tennessee to Indiana, and were farming people, casting in their lot with the early pioneer settlers of this locality. Their children were William, Andrew, Jennie, Nancy and Bartlett. The grandfather developed a good farm, making the fields very arable and productive and placing substantial buildings upon the place. In his political views he was a Republican. Some years have passed since he departed this life, but his work yet remains in the fine farm which he cleared and cultivated. Bartlett O'Neal was associated with his father in farming for many years. He was reared on the old homestead and never followed any other occupation than farming. At one time he was the owner of four hundred acres of fine land, and at the time of his demise his landed possessions comprised two hundred and forty acres. As a citizen he was loyal and true to the best interests of his community and labored for the general good. He voted with the Republican party and was active in the work of the Christian church, with which he long held membership and in which he filled office. Unto him and his wife were born ten children: James, who died in infancy; Isabelle, the wife of John Burns, a mechanic, and after his death of George W. Cooper, a farmer; Marcella, the wife of F. J. Flannigan, a farmer who is now engaged in dairying; Harry, who married Florence Marr and follows farming; Lary, who died in childhood; Herod; Roby, the wife of William Muir, who is engaged in agricultural pursuits; Alameda, the wife of Daily Chambers; Sheridan, who married Lizzie Muir and is a farmer; and Nora, who is the wife of Charles May.

To give a detailed account of the boyhood days of the subject would be to present a picture of the youth of most lads reared upon farms. He had, perhaps, more advantages twelve years, acting at different times as its secretary and its president, and is now acting for the pension bureau as expert eye and ear examiner. He belongs to the Grand Army of the Republic, to the Improved Order of Red Men and to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and in the last named has filled all of the chairs. Whatever tends to promote the interests of his profession and give to man the key to that complex problem which we call life at once attracts the interest and co-operation of Dr. Hawley. He is an extremely busy and successful practitioner. A strong mentality and invincible courage and a marked individuality have so entered into his makeup as to render him a natural leader of men and a director of opinion.

JONATHAN W. CARTER.

Jonathan W. Carter, now deceased, was a man whom to know was to respect and honor, for he lived an upright life, was industrious, energetic and honorable, and his history is another proof of the fact that success can be achieved through persistent purpose, directed by sound judgment.

Mr. Carter was born in Columbus township, Bartholomew county, on the 19th of March, 1828, and was a son of Elijah S. and Maria (Wilkinson) Carter. The father was a native of New Jersey and during his early boyhood accompanied his parents on their removal from that state to Indiana, the family home being established in this county. Thus he was reared here amid the wild scenes of pioneer life, for the work of improvement and progress had scarcely been begun at that time. He assisted in the arduous task of developing a new farm and did much clearing in this county, thus aiding materially in its improvement. Throughout his entire life he carried on agricultural pursuits and met with success in his work, adding year by year to his savings, which he invested from time to time in real estate until he was the owner of three hundred acres of fine land. He led a very busy life and found that work is an excellent foundation upon which to rear the superstructure of success. Both he and his wife were members of the Methodist Episcopal church and he took a very active part in its work, laboring earnestly for the moral development and progress of his community. His political support was given the Whig party in early life and later he joined the ranks of the new Republican party, continuing to follow its banner until his death. Unto Elijah and Maria Carter were born seven children: Jonathan W., Nathan, Lucinda, Abigail, Catherine and Robert and William, twins.

Mr. Carter of this review was a representative of one of the earliest families of Bartholomew county and pioneer conditions existed during the period of his boyhood. Many of the homes were built of logs, and there were great stretches of country which were not only unfenced, but were still in possession of the government, for the settlers were so few that there had not been a demand made for the lands. Crude farming implements were used in the cultivation of the fields, roads were in poor condition, as compared to those of the present, much of the forest stood in its native state, the streams were unbridged and the land undrained. Mr. Carter shared with the family in the hardships and trials of frontier life and performed his full share of the work on the old home place. At length, having arrived at years of maturity, he desired to have a home of his own and a companion and helpmate for the journey of life. He then wooed and won Miss Charity Chambers and their marriage was celebrated on the 26th of July, 1855. The lady is a daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Gibbs) Chambers, the former a native of Canada and the latter of New York. Mr. Chambers was a farmer by occupation and came to Bartholomew county at a very early day, casting in his lot with the first settlers. Wild game of various kinds abounded and he largely subsisted upon such meat while developing his farm. He cleared a tract of land and when it was prepared for the plow he planted his crops and made an excellent farm. His wife, a most estimable lady, greatly aided him by her careful management of the household affairs and the able manner in which she reared her children. She belonged to the Methodist Episcopal church, and although not a church member, Mr. Chambers was a good, moral man, devoted to honorable principles and right living. In politics he was first a Whig and on the dissolution of that party he joined the ranks of the new Republican party. In his business affairs he prospered, becoming one of the successful farmers of his neighborhood. His death occurred in 1852 and his wife passed away in 1873. They had a family of eight children: Sally A., the deceased wife of William Gibbs, a farmer; Daniel, who married Polly Lewis and followed farming as a life work, but is now deceased; John A., a farmer, who wedded Rachel Smith; Cyrenus, also deceased, who married Harriet Mullendoor and carried on farming; Amos, a farmer and stock dealer of Texas, who married Susan Shoe; Benjamin, who married Harriet Patterson and is now a retired farmer; Mrs. Carter, and Martha, the deceased wife of John A. Williams, also an agriculturist.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carter was blessed with six children: Elijah S., who married Miranda Jones, a daughter of Newton S. and Sarah (Hart) Jones; John W., who wedded Mary Redman and is engaged in the tilling of the soil; Sarah A., the wife of Willard Haislup, who follows agricultural pursuits; Stella M., the wife of George Heflen, a farmer; Hattie, the wife of Alonzo Smock, and one that died in infancy.

Throughout his entire business career Mr. Carter carried on agricultural pursuits and was widely known as one of the leading, practical and progressive farmers of Columbus township. As the years passed by he prospered. He never indulged in speculation, but placed his dependence in the surer elements of success—diligence, perseverance and honest dealing. He did much clearing, especially during his early years, and thus aided in reclaiming the wild land for the uses of the white man. He became the owner of three hundred and eighty-three and a third acres of land, which he placed under a high state of cultivation, making it a very valuable property. Of this his widow still owns one hundred and ninety acres, upon which is a fine brick residence which was built by Mr. Carter at the time of the Civil war. It forms one of the pleasing features of the landscape, and few finer farms can be found in this section of the state than the one which was developed and improved by Mr. Carter. He gave his political allegiance to the Republican party and in early manhood served as supervisor, but in later years sought or held no public office. He belonged to the Methodist church and his Christian faith was the secret of his upright life and manly character. He won the respect of all because he lived worthy the regard of those with whom he came in contact, and his life record is an untarnished one, well worthy of emulation.

HEROD W. O'NEAL.

Herod W. O'Neal, a stock farmer of Bartholomew county, owns and occupies a good farm in Rock Creek township, and the property is increasing in value and attractive appearance because of the excellent improvements which he has placed upon it. He is now largely engaged in stock farming, handling annually a large number of animals.

Mr. O'Neal was born in this county, September 11, 1867, and is a son of Bartlett and Mary (Neal) O'Neal. The father is also a native of this county, born on the 14th of January, 1840, and the mother's birth occurred near Burnsville, in 1842. The paternal grandparents, James and Sarah O'Neal, came from Tennessee to Indiana, and were farming people, casting in their lot with the early pioneer settlers of this locality. Their children were William, Andrew, Jennie, Nancy and Bartlett. The grandfather developed a good farm, making the fields very arable and productive and placing substantial buildings upon the place. In his political views he was a Republican. Some years have passed since he departed this life, but his work yet remains in the fine farm which he cleared and cultivated. Bartlett O'Neal was associated with his father in farming for many years. He was reared on the old homestead and never followed any other occupation than farming. At one time he was the owner of four hundred acres of fine land, and at the time of his demise his landed possessions comprised two hundred and forty acres. As a citizen he was loyal and true to the best interests of his community and labored for the general good. He voted with the Republican party and was active in the work of the Christian church, with which he long held membership and in which he filled office. Unto him and his wife were born ten children: James, who died in infancy; Isabelle, the wife of John Burns, a mechanic, and after his death of George W. Cooper, a farmer; Marcella, the wife of F. J. Flannigan, a farmer who is now engaged in dairying; Harry, who married Florence Marr and follows farming; Lary, who died in childhood; Herod; Roby, the wife of William Muir, who is engaged in agricultural pursuits; Alameda, the wife of Daily Chambers; Sheridan, who married Lizzie Muir and is a farmer; and Nora, who is the wife of Charles May.

To give a detailed account of the boyhood days of the subject would be to present a picture of the youth of most lads reared upon farms. He had, perhaps, more advantages
